COLORADO LEGAL SERVICES

MIGRANT FARM WORKER DIVISION

PROVIDING FREE LEGAL SERVICES TO COLORADO FARMWORKERS

Who Are We?

The Migrant Farm Worker Division is a special project of Colorado Legal Services, a non-profit organization providing free civil legal assistance to low-income people throughout Colorado.

The Migrant Farm Worker Division provides legal advice and representation at no charge to eligible agricultural workers who have the following questions or problems:

- Wages (failure to pay wages, minimum wage violations)
- Terms and Conditions of Employment (promises made at recruitment, housing conditions and transportation)
- Health and Safety (field sanitation, pesticide exposure, workers' compensation)
- Civil Rights (discrimination and sexual harassment in employment)
- Immigration (citizenship, VAWA, U and T visas)
- H-2A Workers (shepherders, nursery and field workers)

We cannot assist with criminal matters.

Who is eligible for our legal services?

Farm workers or their immediate family members are eligible if they meet our income and eligibility guidelines.

Do we charge for our legal services?

No. Our office is a non-profit office.

How can I apply for legal help?

Call our main office. The telephone number is on the back. Or you can speak to one of our representatives when they visit your community.

I live far from Denver. Can you still help me?

Yes. We represent farm workers throughout the state of Colorado.

When can I call your office?

Our office is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 am to 5:00 pm. If you call us outside of these hours, please leave a message on our voicemail. We will return your call as soon as we can.
